

Writing Center Faculty Information

Writing Center Orientations

Writing Center tutors will gladly deliver a brief (10-15 minute) introduction to the services we provide. Orientations allow students to associate a friendly face with the Writing Center, which often encourages more students to stop in. We also hand out bookmarks listing our phone number, location, and current hours. We are happy to provide orientations in your classroom or in the Writing Center. Please contact me to schedule an orientation and/or request bookmarks.

Submitting Assignments

One way you can help the Writing Center to serve you and your students is by providing us with copies of your written assignments, grading criteria, and any samples of model papers. Please send materials as attachments.

Class Workshops

Writing Center tutors can also present workshops on a wide variety of writing topics for any class or discipline. Based on your needs, the class size, and the topic, we can work with you to design a tailored workshop for your class.

Individual Faculty Consultation

We will gladly meet with you individually to discuss any aspect of incorporating writing into your class; we can work with you on such areas as designing writing assignments, creating rubrics, and responding to writing.
